

the Defender™

CHILDREN'S HEALTH DEFENSE NEWS & VIEWS

CHD Calls on FDA to Take COVID Vaccines Off the Market - Submit a Comment

06/09/21 • BIG PHARMA › NEWS

Cleveland Clinic: Already Had COVID? Vaccine Provides No Added Benefit

A Cleveland Clinic study of the effectiveness of COVID vaccines in people with a history of previous SARS-CoV-2 infection and those without found those who had COVID but weren't vaccinated appeared to have acquired strong natural immunity.

By Megan Redshaw

21

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website. You consent to our cookies if you continue to use our website.

Ok Privacy policy

A new preprint study by the Cleveland Clinic found people previously infected with SARS-CoV-2 were less likely to be reinfected than fully vaccinated individuals who never had the virus — suggesting the vaccine is of no benefit to people who already had COVID.

The Cleveland Clinic recently studied the effectiveness of COVID-19 vaccination among people with a history of previous SARS-CoV-2 infection and those without. The purpose of the study was to evaluate the necessity of COVID vaccination in persons previously infected with SARS-CoV-2.

The study, available on medRxiv, provides insight into how the immune system protects the body once a COVID infection is confirmed, the Cleveland Clinic said.

The clinic studied 52,238 employees. Of those, 49,659 never had the virus and 2,579 had COVID and recovered. Of the 2,579 who previously were infected, 1,359, or 53%, remained unvaccinated, compared with 41%, or 22,777 who were vaccinated.

The cumulative incidence of SARS-CoV-2 infection remained almost zero among three groups — those previously infected who remained unvaccinated; those previously infected who were vaccinated; and those previously uninfected who were vaccinated — compared with a steady increase in cumulative incidence among previously uninfected subjects who remained unvaccinated.

Of all infections during the study period, 99.3% occurred in participants who were not infected previously and remained unvaccinated. In contrast, 0.7% of infections occurred in participants who were not previously infected but were currently vaccinated.

Significantly, not one of the 1,359 previously infected subjects who remained unvaccinated had a SARS-CoV-2 infection over the duration of the study, according to the Cleveland Clinic.

CHD Calls on FDA to Take COVID Vaccines Off the Market - Submit a Comment

The study's conclusion appears to support what others, including Dr. Anthony Fauci, have said about immunity in people previously infected with the virus. In a livestreamed conversation last month, Fauci told Howard Bauchner, editor of the Journal of the American Medical Association, it's unlikely people can get COVID more than once.

Fauci however continues to recommend everyone get the vaccine — unlike Sen. Rand Paul (R-Ky) who as The Defender reported, has been one of the most vocal opponents of vaccinating people who have already been infected with SARS-CoV-2.

During a May 24 interview with John Catsimatidis on his radio show WABC 770 AM, Paul, a physician, said he was making the personal decision not to get vaccinated because he already had COVID, so he had acquired natural immunity. He said there was no evidence to support vaccinating people who've already had the disease.

Paul told Catsimatidis:

“Frankly, all of the studies show that I have just as good of immunity as the people who've been vaccinated. Now in a year's time, if people say, 'Oh people that had it naturally are getting infected a

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website. You consent to our cookies if you continue to use our website.

Ok Privacy policy

Paul has often challenged Fauci, director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases, during Senate panel hearings on Fauci's recommendations that people who have had COVID need the vaccine.

"Sorry Dr. Fauci and other fearmongers, new study shows vaccines and naturally acquired immunity DO effectively neutralize COVID variants. Good news for everyone but bureaucrats and petty tyrants!" Paul said March 21 in a tweet.

In his tweet, Paul pointed to a study published online at the JAMA Network showing vaccines and naturally acquired immunity effectively neutralize COVID variants.

In a May 27 op-ed in the Courier Journal, Paul wrote:

"To dictate that a person recovered from COVID-19 with natural immunity also submit to a vaccine — without scientific evidence — is nothing more than hubris. If you have no proof that people who acquired natural immunity are getting or transmitting the disease in real numbers, then perhaps you should just be quiet."

Paul said people are getting re-infected in large numbers after being vaccinated, which he said the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention (CDC) quietly admitted on its website. But people are not getting reinfected after having the disease naturally.

Paul said the CDC originally tried to hide the fact there were "no studies showing that getting the vaccine if you already have natural immunity is of any benefit at all."

According to Paul, Congressman Thomas Massie (R-Ky.) got the CDC to admit there was no science to support the agency's recommendation that people with natural immunity to COVID need the vaccine.

As The Defender reported, Massie called out the CDC in April when he found vaccine studies showed no benefit to people who had coronavirus and that getting vaccinated didn't change their odds of getting reinfected.

The CDC claimed "the COVID vaccine would save your life or save you from suffering, even if you've already had the virus and recovered, which has not been demonstrated in either the Pfizer or Moderna trials," Massie said in an interview with Full Measure. Massie contacted officials at the CDC about the misinformation. Officials there acknowledged the information was false, but instead of correcting it, tried to rephrase the mistake.

"Facts are facts," Paul wrote. "I'm no more likely to get or transmit COVID than someone who is vaccinated. We know this. Doctors know this. Scientists who design vaccines know this. Vaccines are created to attempt to replicate the immunity we get from having been infected with a disease," Paul said. "Vaccines are a replacement for natural immunity. They aren't necessarily better. In fact, natural immunity from measles confers lifelong immunity and the vaccine immunity wanes over a few decades."

Paul pointed to a recent British study where David Wyllie, consultant microbiologist at Public Health England, and others found no symptomatic re-infections from COVID after following 2,800 patients for several months. In fact, Paul wrote "there have been no reports of significant numbers of re-infections after acquiring COVID-19 naturally."

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website. You consent to our cookies if you continue to use our website.

Ok Privacy policy

The results, published in Science, showed the immune systems of more than 95% of people who recovered from COVID had durable memories of the virus up to eight months after infection. Previous studies showed natural infection induced a strong response, but this study showed that response lasted, said co-author Dr. Daniela Weiskopf.

In a recent study in The Lancet, Dr. Florian Kramer noted:

“The findings of the authors suggest that infection and the development of antibody response provides protection similar to or even better than currently used SARS COV-2 vaccines.”

Increased risk of vaccine injury in those with previous infection

As The Defender reported, numerous scientists have warned vaccinating people who already had COVID could potentially cause harm, or even death.

According to Dr. Hooman Noorchasm, surgeon and patient safety advocate, it is scientifically established that once a person is naturally infected by a virus, antigens from that virus persist in the body for a long time after viral replication has stopped and clinical signs of infection have resolved.

When a vaccine reactivates an immune response in a recently infected person, the tissues harboring the persisting viral antigen are targeted, inflamed and damaged by the immune response, Noorchasm said.

“In the case of SARS-CoV-2, we know that the virus naturally infects the heart, the inner lining of blood vessels, the lungs and the brain,” explained Noorchasm. “So, these are likely to be some of the critical organs that will contain persistent viral antigens in the recently infected — and, following reactivation of the immune system by a vaccine, these tissues can be expected to be targeted and damaged.”

Colleen Kelley, associate professor of infectious diseases at Emory University School of Medicine and principal investigator for Moderna and Novavax phase 3 vaccine clinical trials, said in an interview with Huffington Post, there had been reported cases in which those who previously had the virus endured harsher side effects after they received their vaccines.

Dr. Dara Udo, urgent and immediate care physician at Westchester Medical Group who received the COVID vaccine a year after having the disease, had a very strong immune response very similar to what she experienced while having COVID.

In an op-ed published by The Hill, Udo explained how infection from any organism, including COVID, activates several different arms of the immune system, some in more robust ways than others and that this underlying activation due to infection or exposure, combined with a vaccination, could lead to overstimulation of the immune response.

Udo called for an intentional, well-planned approach to avoid eliciting adverse immune responses in those who had been “COVID-primed” and suggested only one of two doses be given to previously infected people, or none at all.

In a public submission to the U.S. Food and Drug Administration, J. Patrick Whelan M.D. Ph.D., expressed similar concern that COVID vaccines aimed at creating immunity against the SARS-CoV-2 spike protein could have the potential to cause microvascular injury to the brain, heart, liver and kidneys in a way that ~~does not currently appear to be assessed in safety trials of these potential drugs~~ Based on several

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website. You consent to our cookies if you continue to use our website.

Ok Privacy policy

SIGN UP

SUGGEST A CORRECTION

Megan Redshaw

Megan Redshaw is a freelance reporter for The Defender. She has a background in political science, a law degree and extensive training in natural health.

Sign up for free news and updates from Robert F. Kennedy, Jr. and the Children's Health Defense. CHD is planning many strategies, including legal, in an effort to defend the health of our children and obtain justice for those already injured. Your support is essential to CHD's successful mission.

Republishing Guidelines

Children's Health Defense Comment Policy

We welcome relevant and respectful comments. Off-topic comments may be removed.

Please read our Comment Policy before commenting.

21 Comments

Children's Health Defense

1 Login

Recommend 3

Tweet

Share

Sort by Best

Join the discussion...

LOG IN WITH

OR SIGN UP WITH DISQUS ?

Name

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website. You consent to our cookies if you continue to use our website.

Ok Privacy policy

fundamental point. It's so disheartening to see the authorities jamming vaccines down everyone's arm: One Size Fits All....

18 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

Lady Sane • 10 hours ago • edited

How would one know if they had Covid 19?

The tests are non-specific and developed without virus isolate and there is pending review to retract the science paper on which PCR is based

So, how do you know?

Symptoms mirror many other diseases

No test that can definitively determine infection

And, how is any of this research valid utilizing tests that unsuitable for diagnosis of Covid-19 infection with research studies often indicating cycle threshold levels that will give false positives by default?

Are we more at risk from a vaccine due to what parameter?

And alternative medication treatments should be given on what

see more

8 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

Ektor → Lady Sane • 9 hours ago

Very good points. There is no accurate testing method so there is absolutely no way of telling who has what and there hasn't been since day one of the fake pandemic.

^ | v • Reply • Share ›

DC • 11 hours ago • edited

Real Science!

<https://www.kxly.com/idahos...>

Despite one of the lowest vaccine rates in the country Idaho somehow also has a 85% decrease in cases little or no deaths! I live on the WA/Idaho border where the face diaper still rings hero and we are at 25% capacity for most activities in WA or as we call it west of freedom and I can't go to work in person if I am un-

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website. You consent to our cookies if you continue to use our website.

Ok Privacy policy

0 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

george devos • 11 hours ago

It's good to have my sense of logic ratified. Naturally acquired immunity appears to be better and safer than man made.

5 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

krofter • 10 hours ago

The CDC has set up a new reporting system for what they euphemistically call "breakthrough cases" - those who have acquired covid after being fully vaccinated. If you get covid after being fully vaccinated, your chances of dying from it go way up.

<https://secularheretic.subs...> - <https://secularheretic.subs...>

4 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

Henry Lamotte • 11 hours ago

Thank you, Megan Redshaw for all your work. A big thanks as well for all involved in this project. We owe you big.

4 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

jprexena • 11 hours ago

The real science is the natural immunity given by God called your immune system as your pharmacy supersedes the false artificial immunity through these death shots. Don't allow these evil bastards to condition you to accept these death shots as the solution, while it changes your DNA under the beast's image.

The left/right are one party system....still solutions as proposed by Dr. Judy Mikovits on treating those vaxxed victims with "medical interventions that inhibit the expression of the prion-like regions of the SARS-CoV-2 nanoparticles." Including extracting the heavy metals out of their systems & much more.....Let's work on reversing the damage now so this doesn't led to genocide. While holding these evil bastards accountable for crimes against humanity!!

<https://www.naturalnews.com...>

4 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

Elizabeth Mumper • 11 hours ago

This is the Cleveland Clinic. I am eager to see if their research is covered in "mainstream" media.

3 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website. You consent to our cookies if you continue to use our website.

Ok Privacy policy

they simply switched their disinformation operation on this matter over to the FDA (huh?). On May 19th, that agency issued a “safety communication” which said—citing absolutely no scientific literature at all—that, “The U.S. Food and Drug Administration (FDA) is reminding the public and health care providers that results from currently authorized SARS-CoV-2 antibody tests should not be used to evaluate a person’s level of immunity or protection from COVID-19 at any time, and especially after the person received a COVID-19 vaccination”. As Dr. Norchashm subsequently explained on his blog, “The current commissioner of the FDA proudly states in a Tweet that the gold-standard serological evidence of immunity to the SARS-CoV-2 (i.e., the antibody tests for Spike protein and Nucleocapsid) means nothing in 2021. No matter that this same clinical readout (i.e., antibodies against SARS-CoV-2) was used to assess the vaccine’s efficacy in the clinical trials leading to EUA approval of the COVID-19 vaccines.” And at another juncture he states, “As an analogy, this FDA statement against use of COVID-19 antibodies to assess immunity is so absurd, it would be like NASA putting out a public statement advising the public that we should no longer assume that the earth is round. The FDA guidance on COVID-19 antibodies is truly that absurd!

Their brazenness apparently knows no limits.

Here’s the link to the mendacious FDA “guidance”

<https://www.fda.gov/medical...>

2 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

Ektor • 9 hours ago

We don't need a medical clinic or any expert medical source telling us what we already know. This is admitted by the drug makers in their presentations to the FDA and CDC. These mRNA injections do nothing as far as stopping any transmission of any disease or preventing anyone from getting a disease. What we need these clowns to tell us is what their REAL purpose is. Why do we need to inject the planet with experimental injections when we know next to nothing about what they do? We need big pharma to stop lying, the FDA and CDC to stop lying and tell us the truth...just for once.

2 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

Kim from Brooklyn • 11 hours ago

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website. You consent to our cookies if you continue to use our website.

Ok Privacy policy

 That's the problem. In all honesty, by now, almost everyone has already been exposed to and has had some sort of immune response. Not to mention the fact that there is evidence showing the some people's immune systems had zero issues dealing with covid because of previous SARS infections. It's all just a ploy

3 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

 Elizabeth → Kim from Brooklyn • 6 hours ago

Good question. Could it be that those with a stellar immune response have immunity based on past EXPOSURE, not necessarily INFECTION? These people would not have had COVID, just exposure to SARS-CoV-2.

^ | v • Reply • Share ›

 George → Kim from Brooklyn • 9 hours ago

Test your antibodies. They will show whether or not you've had or been exposed to the virus.

^ | v • Reply • Share ›

 el Gallinazo • 7 hours ago

To Billy Boy Gates and Ray Kurzweil, the father of transhumanism and the director of R&D for Google, the do evil corporation. I came onto the forsaken planet with a specific genome and I intend to leave it, despite your best efforts, with that genome intact.

1 ^ | v • Reply • Share ›

 Max Sargeson • 10 hours ago

The results, published in Science, showed the immune systems of more than 95% of people who recovered from COVID had durable memories of the virus up to eight months after infection. Previous studies showed natural infection induced a strong response, but this study showed that response lasted, said co-author Dr. Daniela Weiskopf.

If you look at the incidence of serious morbidity and mortality from reinfections in people recovering from COVID-19 I think you'll find it's much better than 95%, it's more like 99.9%.

Brazil and Germany have thus far reported one death each from confirmed reinfection. If your body beat the virus once you will

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website. You consent to our cookies if you continue to use our website.

Ok Privacy policy

First Name..

Last Name..

Email..

SIGN UP

Donate Now

You make the difference.

Latest News

Cleveland Clinic: Already Had COVID? Vaccine Provides No Added Benefit

WATCH TOMORROW: FDA Advisory Committee Meeting to Consider Expanding Emergency Use of COVID Vaccines in Younger Children

Wealth Growth	Total Income Reported	Total Taxes Paid
$24.3B	$129M	$23.7M
$69.0B	$4.22B	$973M
$22.5B	$10.0B	$292M

Never-Before-Seen Records Reveal How Bezos, Musk, Other Top Billionaires Pay Almost Zilch in Income Taxes

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website. You consent to our cookies if you continue to use our website.

Ok Privacy policy

Latest Views

'This Week' With Mary + Polly: CDC Knows 'Far More' About Vaccine Injuries Than They're Telling Us

Yale Doctor Tells RFK, Jr. How He Was Attacked by Colleagues Over COVID Treatment Recommendation for High-Risk Patients

Unvaccinated Cadets at West Point Forced to Live in Tent for Summer Training

MORE VIEWS

Latest Community

TOMORROW: Health Freedom Advocates to Rally Against Indiana University Vaccine Mandate

Lawmakers Respond to Pushback From Medical Freedom Activists, Allow New Yorkers to Opt Out of State Vaccine Database

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website. You consent to our cookies if you continue to use our website.

Ok Privacy policy

8

MORE COMMUNITY

Children's Health Defense® is a 501(c)3 non-profit organization. Its mission is to end childhood health epidemics by working aggressively to eliminate harmful exposures, hold those responsible accountable, and to establish safeguards so this never happens again.

EN

SUBSCRIBE - IT'S FREE!

BECOME A MEMBER

MEMBER LOGIN

Donations are tax deductible to the full extent of the law. EIN #26-0388604

Children's Health Defense • Legal Disclaimer • Terms of Use • Privacy Policy • Donate • Contact • Social • Sitemap

We use cookies to ensure that we give you the best experience on our website. You consent to our cookies if you continue to use our website.

Ok Privacy policy