Assuming that a large population already has some form of immunity and citing dangerous and fatal side effects such as blood clotting, the doctors urged public health officials not to repeat the mistakes made during the swine flu vaccination which resulted in numerous cases of narcolepsy as a side-effect.

A group of 28 medical experts has in an opinion piece urged public health officials to only vaccinate at-risk groups against COVID-19, but not the young and healthy.

In their open letter in the newspaper Göteborgs-Posten, the 28 doctors and researchers, including psychiatrist and debater Sven Román and Nils Littorin of Lund University, who also heads the local party the Malmö List, maintained that a large part of the world's population has now had COVID-19 and that even more have one form of immunity or another.

“Therefore, we should only vaccinate those who are aged 65 years of age and over or are at risk. Otherwise, we risk repeating the fatal mistakes of the swine flu vaccination,” the experts wrote.

In March 2009, the world saw an outbreak of a new flu virus, possibly stemming from pigs, notably infecting even young people. Alarm bells rang globally, as the virus in many ways resembled the 1917 Spanish flu outbreak. A vaccine was shortly developed against the swine flu and 60-90 million doses were administered globally. In Europe, and particularly in the Nordic countries, numerous cases of narcolepsy appeared after these vaccinations. The confounding factor is that the swine flu virus itself causes narcolepsy, which makes it hard to discern the cause. Still, the patients who developed narcolepsy were compensated by the state.

The signatories cite the risk of developing fatal blood clotting and haemorrhaging, which has been noted as a side effect of several vaccines, including AstraZeneca, and urge not to repeat the “narcolepsy mistake” and not to inoculate the young and healthy, as well as those who have already had COVID-19 and have developed some form of immunity.

The proposal runs counter to the general vaccination strategy implemented by the Swedish Public Health Agency, the state epidemiologist Anders Tegnell and the government's vaccine coordinator Richard Bergström. According to the official take, Sweden will leave the pandemic phase and enter the endemic phase when over 60 percent of the population have been vaccinated. So far, Sweden has managed to fully inoculate about 9.5 percent of the target groups.

Doctor Sven Román is particularly sceptical of the authorities' apparent links to the pharmaceutical industry, such as the aforementioned Richard Bergström, who was previously CEO of the Pharmaceutical Industry Association.

"I lack confidence in this man. I have never trusted him, he comes directly from the pharmaceutical industry. The Swedes must realise that these people have vested interests, and are not impartial," Román tweeted about Bergström lauding Swedish regions for allowing younger population groups being inoculated with the controversial AstraZeneca vaccine.

Denne man saknar jag också förtroende för. Har aldrig litat på honom, kommer direkt från läkemedelsindustrin. Svenskarna måste inse att dessa personer har särintressen, dvs är jäviga. Lämna Sörgårdsidyllen, den försvann redan 1986 med Palmemordet. (via @omni\_red) <https://t.co/9WbfckhedE>

— Sven Román (@Sven_Roman) May 5, 2021

"Experts who are rather useful idiots for the pharmaceutical industry. I know what I'm talking about, because I was myself until about ten years ago," Sven Román tweeted, citing an article about experts' assumptions on mass vaccination.

Experter som snarare är nyttiga idioter åt läkemedelsindustrin. Jag vet vad jag talar om, för jag var det själv fram till för cirka tio år sedan." (via @omni\_red) <https://t.co/Z48ryixcSY>

— Sven Román (@Sven_Roman) May 4, 2021

Sweden has consistently shunned major lockdowns throughout the pandemic and introduced only a fraction of the restrictions seen elsewhere in Europe, and is edging towards a million COVID-19 cases, with over 14,000 deaths.

Given the substandardly tested and resultant poorly performing vaccines being offered in these colonies... What if they had decent vaccines to offer their citizens instead? We all know the answer.

Interesting many people round the world feel the same potential danger in Politian's, pharmaceutical industry and vested interests that cannot be impartial. Look at the current situation in Indian where the owner of their pharmaceutical industry who also make AstraZeneca fled with family to the UK. Who can you trust?

Gargarin, Society that tends to "forget" to pick up their deceased family members from morgue to bury them certainly is capable of considering such possibility.

Vaccinating is done with VACCINES, but the deadly jabs the Satanic World Elite wants to impose on humanity are not VACCINES, but Genetically modifying jabs designed to kill the majority of human beings, and enslave the survivors who would then be turned into genetically modified controllable ZOMBIES, that's the real Globalist plan for humanity.

Either we agree or not, we are going to a nightmare situation within the next coming months. The report of Salk institute recently declared that the Spike protein which supposed not go into the cells ARE WELL GOING INSIDE THE CELLS, since they are injected by trillions.... The report is on Y.T ( for instance) ..."The Novel Coronavirus Spike Protein Plays Additional Key Role in Illness - Salk Institute" The fundamental Covid element destroying the vascular system is the Spike protein ! But, is it the one they are injecting to human bodies ?????

Early on in the pandemic, any qualified person who spoke out against rushing headlong into widespread vaccinations, using barely tested vaccines based on new technology, was quickly quieted by grouping them with the tinfoil hat, anti-vaxxer, nano-tracker, crowd. By stifling honest debate, the media and pharmaceutical companies guaranteed the void would be filled by conspiracy nutters.

Nonyank, You are not being being entirely honest, as you know full well that Sweden does not have significant excess morality or significant Covid 19 deaths per head of population, by international comparison, as the data is easy to look up. "Coronavirus (COVID-19) deaths worldwide per one million population as of May 7, 2021, by country" (Statista). Gives Sweden is not even on the first 2 pages, having currently the 28th highest cumulative Covid 19 death per million of population, by country. The FTs "Coronavirus tracker: the latest figures as countries fight the Covid-19 resurgence | Free to read"; Give Sweden as having the 30th highest % increase in overall mortality relative to historical averages over the entire epidemic, with the hardest lockdown countries having the highest % increase in mortality over this period. Peru (troops on the street enforcing lockdowns), has the highest excess mortality at +123%, in comparison to Sweden at an unspectacular + 12%, the Czech republic at + 27% Belgium at + 25% the same as the Netherlands and Switzerland at + 12% less than Italy at + 18% and Spain at +17%, the UK at +17%, Belgium at +15% Russia at +27% and Bulgaria at +25%, and so on, you get the picture. Please look up the data, publish a retraction and apologise.
