"I call on the DepEd to ensure a high vaccination rate for students," he said.

"Siguraduhing mataas ang vaccination rate at marami na ang nabakunahan sa mga estudyante at guro laban sa COVID-19 bago simulan ang school year 2022-2023."

Eleazar said the DepEd has a significant role in encouraging those who are still hesitant to avail anti-COVID shots.

The DepEd has said a total of 6,925 schools across the Philippines were ready to participate in the "progressive expansion" phase of face-to-face classes amid the health crisis.

According to the agency, there is no COVID-19 infection recorded in schools amid the conduct of face-to-face classes in all the schools that were allowed to do so.
